MOSES JOHNSON PASSED SUDDENLY

News of the sudden death of Mr. Moses Johnson, local district mines inspector, came as a distinct shock to the people of The Pass last evening.

Mr. Johnson had but recently recovered from a lengthy spell of illness, which had left his system in a very weakened condition. Just before noon yesterday, he responded to a call to the International mine, where fire had been discovered. Before reaching the mine, he is said to have collapsed, his heart failing him in the excitement.

Mr. Johnson was one of the most highly respected citizens of the Pass and was looked upon as one of the best authorities on mining, safety devices in operation, etc. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Frank, Cecil and Ronald, and one daughter, Leila, with whom general sympathy is extended.

As we go to press announcement as to date of funeral has not been made, but in all probability it will not be before Sunday, as the arrival of two sons and daughter will likely be awaited, from Toronto, Edmonton and Calgary, respectively.

The Library hours are Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays from 7 to 9 p.m. The fee is $1.00 for residents and $2.00 for non-residents per year. Non-resident students attending the Blairmore high school admitted under resident membership fee of $1.00 per year.

INTERNATIONAL MINE ON FIRE

As we go to press, we learn that fire has broken out in the 98 entry of the International Coal & Coke Company's mine, in the vicinity of York Creek.

All men came out of the mine safely, and efforts are now being made to quench the fire or avoid its spread. In this work, assistance has been offered by the West Canadian Collieries here, and other companies operating in the district.

The outbreak is a serious blow to the company, and will affect upwards of three hundred men who had been employed in that area of the Pass coal fields.

On discovery of the fire, two men suffered slight burns and are being treated.

L.O.O.F. PRESENTATIONS

MADE AT COLEMAN

On Thursday night last at the lodge hall, Coleman, six veteran jewels were presented to members of Coleman lodge, No. 56, L.O.O.F. and Victoria Rebekah lodge, No. 7. Hogan to Sisters E. Lonsbury and R. M. Dunlop.

After the presentation of jewels, another presentation of a rose bowl and picture was made by Sis. Ford to Bro. and Sis. R. Evans, who are leaving Coleman for Calgary shortly. This part of the programme was ably looked after by chairman Bro. J. S. Greenhalgh.

After the presentations a very sumptuous banquet was enjoyed by all under the management of a very able committee.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

CORN FLAKE MACAROONS

2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
2 cups corn flakes
1 cup peanuts
1 cup coconut

1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat egg whites until they are stiff enough to hold their shape, but not until they lose their shiny appearance. Fold in corn flakes, peanuts and coconut. Add vanilla. Drop on a well greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 15 to 20 minutes. Remove pans from oven, place on damp towel and remove macaroons immediately with a spatula or sharp knife. If macaroons become hardened to pan, they may be put in the oven for a few minutes to soften. A standard measuring tablespoon which has a round bowl may be used for shaping the macaroons.

CHICKEN AND RICE SOUFFLE

1 1/2 cups chicken, diced
1 cup cooked rice
1/2 cup chicken gravy
2 eggs, beaten

Mix chicken and rice. Season with salt and moisten well with gravy, add well beaten yolks and carefully fold in the beaten whites. Bake in a moderate oven until golden brown on top.

Efforts Met With Success

Boy Paralytic Helped By Two Teachers Learned To Speak

Voluntary instruction by two Omaha speech-education teachers has enabled Billy Coleman, nine-year-old paralytic to speak for the first time. Stricken with infantile paralysis when he was 11 months old, Billy was unable to get about by himself and his handicap was made greater by his inability to speak.

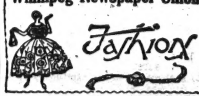

Although he received the finest treatment at the municipal hospital, his vocal sense did not respond to treatment until he was placed in the care of Miss Alice Lillegren, speech education supervisor of the Omaha public schools, and Miss Ethel Jackson, of the speech education department.

When Billy first came to the attention of the teachers he was unable to speak his tongue, lower his jaw or close his lips. He was deficient in 37 of the 40 sounds used in normal speech.

Billy's first lesson was to learn to say "ah", according to Miss Lillegren. She let Billy touch her throat, face and mouth as she enunciated the simple syllable. Since his hearing was normal she also instructed him in the position of the tongue in making the sound.

Through his grim determination to learn to speak and a power of concentration, which Miss Lillegren said was unequalled, Billy now speaks almost normally.

Little Journeys in Science

DYES

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Recently a French silk manufacturer displayed eighty-six different shades of the color green, showing to what perfection the art of dyeing has been brought. Thought to have originated in India many centuries ago, dyeing was at first confined to the production of just three colors, red, obtained from the madder plant; blue from indigo, and purple, from shellfish. These early dyes were of fine quality and are still to be seen in the mummy cloths in archaic collections. These cloths glow with rich colorings of purple and red.

In the city of Florence, Italy, a method of preparing purple dye from certain lichens was discovered in the thirteenth century, and in 1472 the first dye company was incorporated in London. It was not, however, until the eighteenth century, when scientists interested themselves in the perfection of dyeing processes, that the industry became the important one that it is to-day. Coal-tar products were introduced into the process in 1856 by a young British chemist, William Henry Perkins. Perkins was working with aniline, a substance taken from coal tar, in an effort to find quinoline, instead, he discovered an amazing coloring properties of certain aniline compounds, which led to a broader field, revealing dye properties in a large number of coal tar products. His work, which resulted in cheaper and more versatile dyes, brought him a fortune and a knighthood, while industry was further revolutionized by the utilization of coal tar, which had hitherto been considered useless.

Artificial dyes are superior to those found in nature, because of their much greater variety and adaptability, qualities which are continually being further developed in chemical laboratories.

Dr. Robert E. Cornish's feat of restoring life processes to a dog which had been put to death chemically is to be used as the climax of a motion picture written about the life of the Berkeley, Calif., scientist.

THE TENDERFOOT

By
GEORGE B. RODNEYAuthor of "The Coronado Trail,"
"The Canyon Trail," Etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to see what was happening first—himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Flour-Glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward without outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now, is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of this ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Flour-glass cattle and property, arrests it.

Joe Carr's daughter, Edith, repulses Dustin when he wished to make her acquaintance, saying when she walked with a man, it would not be with a squaw man. He plans revenge, but has had no opportunity so far. Affairs on the ranch going from bad to worse, Joe Carr takes to drink.

(Now Go On With The Story)

Spike gaped at him. Then very slowly realization came. His eyes gleamed and his red face got redder and his wire-stiff beard seemed to bristle like the mane of an angry bound.

"... You know how those damned old fools of prospectors talk. They matters worse old Kane can square himself with Joe Carr by letting him in on what he found on the Hour-glass land. See now?"

never see any one to talk to in six months. When they do get a chance the dam gives way and there's a flood. If old Dad Kane goes in to see he'll tell about his gold-fund just as sure as God made it'll apply. He can't help it. The matter of Gray and Corne is bound to come out. ... Still Spike stared at him. The full import of what Dustin said had not yet sunk in.

"They'll hardly dare tell what they done," he growled. "I'll mean jail for them, too."

"They'll turn State's evidence and get exemption. That's the way Burke, the Prosecution Attorney, wins his cases. You poor fool! Can't you see?"

"Karl, look good in a striped suit. ... If it gets that far."

"What do you mean by that? If it gets that far?"

"Huh. That's easy. We're none too popular in the Valley. There ain't a Dry Farmer in thirty miles that don't want our holdins'. If we win that suit over Soda Springs it'll throw 'em on public lands. They'll be open to all the Dry Farmers. They can water their sheep there, too. That'll ruin 'em for cattle. Even you know that."

Spike nodded at that truth; the real reason for the constant feud between sheep and cattle-men.

"It will make no difference to you or me," said Dustin hotly. "We'll be lucked away where nobody can hurt us. ... I tell you. ... We're in a hell of a mess. Old Dad Kane know now just what our men have been doing. Those men will swear, to clear themselves, that they were only carryin' out orders from me. I'll all come out. ... To make

Spike Goddard licked his lips in silence and stared at his partner with a feral glare that promised ill to his enemy. He was not a particularly strong man but like most men of his kind, when driven to bay he could fight desperately.

"Well," he croaked, "what's the answer?"

"That's easy. ... Dustin drew a breath of relief. To plan as he had planned in the last ten minutes was one thing. But man planning devilment needs help. He knew now that he could count on Spike as never before. Dustin went on:

"... You and me, Spike, have made too much off the Hour-glass to let it ever get into court. Even old man Carr with all his drunken suspicions, don't know what we've milked him for. Thank the Lord we've been too careful to show the sources of our income but ... We've got a nice wad of cash right now in the office safe. Too dangerous to put it in the Seco bank. I figured we might need it for a get-away if some one spills the beans. ... Like old Dad Kane. He can do it any minute he chooses to open his mouth and talk. The matter boils down to this: Old Dad Kane has come in here with the finest ore we've ever seen. It was found on the Hour-glass lands and old man Carr doesn't know of it. While he was lookin' for that ore, old Kane found some of our men at work and can send us to jail for what he saw 'em doin'. Get me? You know what's got to be done. I needn't name it. What's the answer?"

Spike Goddard knew that answer but like his partner he dared not put it in speech. Dustin finally dared it. "Old Kane has got to show us where he found the stuff, and then he's got to disappear," he said.

For a long moment silence fell; a silence in which a cricket in the wall chirped loudly and the ticking of the cheap clock on the table sounded like the crack of doom. Spike poured himself another drink. He needed it badly. He knew what was meant.

"How?" he asked hoarsely.

"The less you know personally about it the better for us both," said Dustin. "It's a one-man job and I trust no other man where my own life is at stake. All I say is that I'm not goin' to jail to please old man Kane or Carr either. Suit you?"

"It sure does. ... Spike had sudden visions of himself in a striped suit and he did not admire it. "I'll help you."

"Help me hell," said Dustin fiercely. "I tell you it's a one-man job. ... One-and-a-half that is. First I'm goin' in to Seco on business. Be sure you keep old Dad Kane here. I want him leave on any excuse. Tell him I've gone to make arrangements for him to go back to open the mine. Keep him here till I get back. I want him here till I get back."

"Huh. From all I hear he ain't got any. How'll you find out?"

"I've got ways you never thought of. ... Dustin grinned as a coyote whined at night of getting a meal really big thing for us just now is to make Kane show us exactly where his location is. It'd be right bright to have him disappear and then find out he didn't know where he found the gold."

He poured himself another drink and picked up his hat. "I'll be on my way," he said. "Be sure you ride hard on Kane."

Spike watched the departing car and when its following dust cloud was swallowed up turned away to the kitchen.

He was under no illusions as to what Dustin meant when he said that Kane must disappear. During the many years of their partnership he had seen some curious things but times he thought that that very partnership was the only reason for their mutual safety. Either could hang the other for too much talk. He knew Dustin was cautious and ruthless and he knew suddenly that his "and" of old man Kane would put them both beyond any further need of more money. Dustin was right.

"He'll probably bring home the bacon," he muttered. "Even if he has to kill somebody else's hog to get it." That was exactly what Sam Dustin proposed to do. He knew that the conscienceless suit over Soda Springs had cost Carr more than he had. He knew that the Broken Spur depredations on the herds of the Hour-glass had put that ranch in the red. He was sure that Joe Carr must owe a lot of money and he meant to find out to whom he owed it. Dustin believed in the strong hand and he knew that Solomon was right when he said: "The borrower is servant to the lender." It was dark when he parked his car before the sheet-fronted saloon in Seco. He strode down the main street, turned off at a dark alley and stopped at a little frame bungalow set well back in a clump of dusty Chinaberry trees. The door flew open at his knock and, almost instantly, an old woman holding a stinking kerosene lamp above her head, stood facing him.

"Evenin', Mist' Peters," he said civilly enough, "Sim in?"

"He went for the mail," said Mrs. Peters. "He ought to be back in a minute. Come in, Mist' Dustin. There comes Sim now," she added. (To Be Continued)

Expert Skin Grafting

London Surgeon Describes Remarkable Results That Can Be Attained

A method of restoring living skin from one part of the body to another to improve plastic surgery was described to the American College of Surgeons at Boston by Sir Harold Gillies, London surgeon.

The detouring of skin is one of the latest bits of skin. By its use skin without even losing its living connection with the patient's own blood supply, can be taken from virtually any part of the body, even the back, and transferred anywhere else.

By this method skin has been taken from the outside of the body and detoured to interior cavities to save life.

The detour trip across or lengthwise of the body takes six to nine weeks. The method is known to surgeons as the tubed pedicle flap. The "flap" looks like the handle of a valve.

For detouring abdominal skin to the face, a square section of abdominal skin is first loosened along two opposite sides, lifted and rolled into the form of a valve handle.

This handle or flap remains fully alive nourished by blood vessels at each end, until it gets accustomed to its semi-independent form of life.

Next one end of the flap is cut free and grafted to the forehead, which can be placed near the abdomen. Over a period of several weeks the skin gets accustomed to this change.

Then the flap handle is detached from the abdomen, but left fastened to the forehead. The forehead is then free to be raised to the face, or whatever the new skin is wanted. The flap's free end is grafted in place on the face. Then finally it is detached from the forehead and the grafting completed on the face.

Sir Harold explained this makes it possible to transfer living skin which contains not only the thin surface but underlying fat and blood vessels.

A tiny but practical model of an overtype, 16 nominal horsepower engine with loose eccentric piston valves will be exhibited by its maker, David Briggs, Halifax engraver, at the Nova Scotia provincial exhibition. The small but powerful contraption turns a model aeroplane swing, and three tumblers of water in the wee boiler will keep it going for over an hour.

There are more than a thousand intricate parts of steel, copper and brass but it only took the miniature machinist three months to put them together. Mr. Briggs, whose hobby is mechanical models, has also constructed a working reproduction of the mechanism of a paddle-wheel ferry steamer which he set in a suit-case and engaged his spare time for 17 months; a tug boat engine; and a larger overtype engine which will generate power for 120 minutes.

Something To Know
If you want to revive wilted lettuce or other salad greens, put them in a pan of ice water to which has been added a cupful of vinegar. Let them set for half an hour and they'll be quite crisp. Incidentally, if you wrap lettuce in a damp towel and stick the ends of the towel in a dish of water, it will keep fresh for days.

Then—at the slightest irritation in the nasal passages, where most colds start—use Vicks Vapo-Rub at once. Just a few drops up each nostril. Repeat every hour or so if needed. Vapo-Rub aids Nature's functions—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages. Used in time, Vapo-Rub aids in preventing many colds.

To Help Shorten a Cold
If a cold has developed, rub Vicks VapoRub over throat and chest at bedtime. Through the night, VapoRub attacks the cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation, direct through the skin, like powder or plaster—and by inhalation of its medicated vapors direct to the inflamed passages. This long-continued double action loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes, eases difficult breathing, and helps break congestion.

During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Vapo-Rub every few hours as needed. This gives you full 24-hour treatment without the risks of constant internal dosing, which may irritate the digestion—especially of children.

Your druggist has free combination packages containing trial sizes of Vapo-Rub and VapoRub—also folder telling how these twin aids help with colds and shorter colds—are used in Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Ask for them, or write, as your druggist's supply is limited.

Plant For Production Of Sodium Sulphate Now Come To Saskatchewan

Establishment of a new industry in Saskatchewan, believed to be for the production of sodium sulphate, is being contemplated by a firm of manufacturing chemists with head office in New Jersey, and branch offices in Montreal and Toronto.

Government officials received a communication recently from officials of the firm asking for detailed information concerning labor and coal costs, and for particulars of the location of the plant, according to the letter, would be in southern Saskatchewan, near the United States border, some 12 miles from the nearest railway.

About 300 tons of steel are turned into 5,000,000 cans every year in the United States.

TO THE TEACHERS OF THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA

Some months ago, at the suggestion of the Canadian Legion, the Department of Education sent a letter about the observance of Remembrance Day in the schools. In every community there are homes where loved ones who went to the Great War and did not return are mourned. Thousands of our fellow-citizens, including the fathers and brothers of many of the pupils in the schools, carry the marks of that terrible conflict. Since our soldiers fought for us all, it is fitting that the significance of Remembrance Day should be brought home to all the children in the schools. Encourage the children to wear a poppy, and to attend any memorial service being held in the community on November 11th. Explain to them the meaning of the two minutes of silence, and if no service is being held in the community urge them to observe the silence period at 11:00 a.m., wherever they may be.

The occasion also offers a splendid opportunity for instilling into the minds of the children a realization of the evils of war and a strong desire for peace. It is hoped that through faithful and persistent teaching in the schools, we may help in the effort to bring about such a world-wide realization of the futility, waste and horror of war that in future there will be no resort to arms until every other possible means of settling international disputes has been tried and has been found unavailing. In the light of recent trends in certain countries it is evident that the need for this was never greater than it is today. Remembrance Day then should be made the occasion for turning aside from the usual routine and ordinary tasks, to recall with gratitude the great sacrifices made for us, and to further the cause of peace. The children should be told of the magnitude of the late war, the tremendous loss of life, the destruction of wealth, and the many evils from which the world is now suffering as a result.

Nearly 600,000 Canadians enlisted for service, of whom more than 400,000 were actually sent overseas before the armistice was signed. Approximately 55,000 of these lost their lives. The figures for all nations engaged in the war are so stupendous as to be beyond our power fully to comprehend. Over 60 millions of men were recruited in the armies of all combatant nations, and of this vast number more than eight and a quarter millions were killed in action. Of the more than 10 millions of men enlisted within the British Empire, over 3 millions were killed, wounded, missing, or taken prisoners. Recent estimates place the total cost of the war at 250,000 millions of dollars, one-seventh of which was borne by the British Empire. Canada has today on pension not less than 90,000 men, and our annual pensions bill is but little short of 50 millions of dollars. The annual interest charge on the war debt of Canada is in the neighborhood of 100 millions of dollars. Thus, fifteen years after the close of the war, the Dominion of Canada, as a direct result of it, is paying annually the huge sum of 155 millions of dollars, and there is no prospect that the burden will become lighter for many years to come, if indeed the debt can ever be paid. When we remember, in addition, that the depression of the last four years, with all its loss and suffering, was to a considerable extent caused by the war, the case against war from a financial standpoint becomes overwhelming.

If, on Friday, November 9th, in addition to talking to the children along these lines, time can be found for an effort to foster a feeling of goodwill toward other peoples, any of the following suggestions might be carried out in rural schools:

(a) Give a lesson on the desirability of sympathy, goodwill and understanding amongst people of different national origins, living in the same neighborhood.

(b) Have pupils choose a nation for study and bring facts about it, paying special attention to the contributions of its people to civilization.

(c) Invite someone in the neighborhood who was not born in the British Empire to speak to the class about his native land.

Trusting you will do all you can to bring home to the children the meaning of the national holiday, and the lessons of the Great War, which has occasioned Remembrance Day, I am,

Yours sincerely,
PERREN BAKER,
Minister of Education.

THE GREAT SILENCE

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—The "Great Silence" between 11:00 and 11:02 a.m. on November the 11th will be observed in Canada, and the government has issued instructions to provincial and municipal authorities to arrange for suspension of all vehicular traffic during these two minutes. Railway and water transport will not be suspended.

Remembrance Day comes this year on Sunday, and there is no provision for recognizing any other day as a public holiday.

COMMUNISM DEFINED

Mr. Editor, Macleod Gazette:
Kindly allow me a small space in your paper to define Communism.

Communism reduced to its simplest form means autocratic power for a few and slavery for millions. This would not be very palatable for a British subject.

Yours truly,

THOS. UPHILL GOES TO RUSSIA

About a month ago Tom left on a secret mission to Toronto, where he met in conference a number of other labor leaders. It is alleged that it was there that a proposition was put up to them, that Russia would be glad to welcome a large delegation of labor leaders from Canada for the purpose of interesting them in Soviet conditions in Russia. The funds would of course, be forthcoming—but no definite statement was made as to where they were coming from. A number of those present jumped at the opportunity and among them our Tom.

Years ago the leaders in Soviet Russia realized that unless the "communist" movement was adopted generally throughout the world it would ultimately fail in Russia and in order to protect themselves Russian leaders have spared no effort in their propaganda in almost every country. This last move is only following up this plan. Our representatives from Canada will be given a specially conducted tour, when they will be shown all the bright spots of Soviet Russia—and there are many of them—but when they return, they will actually be little wiser as to actual conditions than they are today, but we can look forward to a number of them being active missionaries in Canada for the Soviets in future.

Tom was particularly secret about his trip. He refused to say who he represented or who was putting up the cash, but he was on his way. Fernie Free Press.

Five hundred unemployed single men will be sent from Calgary to work camps in the Kootenay district of British Columbia. A similar number will be sent from Edmonton.

Celebrating Toshack's twentieth anniversary in business in Drumheller, the Drumheller Review issued an eight-page supplement, which featured greetings from other business concerns in the community, as well as two pages of Toshack's advertising. Toshack's attribute their success during the past twenty years largely to the use of printers' ink. To show their interest in community enterprises, Toshack's staged a pet show this year, at which dogs, cats, etc., were exhibited and prizes awarded. The show was followed by a parade of the pets and their owners.

Bright Stories about Wine

"In the sunset land where thou art gone, Hast wine to drink, Anacron?—DON MARQUEL."

● This is the first of a series of articles which will tell you a lot about wine, if you are patient enough to read them. It is a great story and in the past, either as a theme or a stimulus, inspired some noble bards, and if we translate the grape into barley, some notable Scots reviewers. The culture of the vine is almost as ancient an occupation, and not a less honorable one, than the growing of wheat. In some countries it has become as great an industry.

● In Ontario, the Niagara district, famed for its fruits, has won increasing renown for the quality of its grapes and the wine that has been pressed from them. The story of Niagara wine is part of the lore of Canada. It may be in time that in other parts of the Dominion there will be developed local wines fit for the needs of the people. For it ought to be explained that wherever the grape can be grown, its noblest purpose can be to some extent fulfilled.

● We do not suggest that one may look forward with any reasonable hope to the time when there will be a Saskatchewan Chateau Lafite or an Alberta Tokay. But there will continue to be produced in Old Ontario a variety of wines that ought to suit the palate of all Canadians, just as our climate suits them or ought to suit them, it being the best that we can expect, and perhaps as good as we deserve. Native-born Canadians know far less about native Canadian wines than do Canadians of foreign birth about the wines in the land of their origin. It will be one of our purposes to enlighten them, and we do not doubt, surprise them as we proceed.

● Perhaps you noticed the other day that, when Queen Mary launched her gigantic namesake from the Clyde dockyards, she christened it with a bottle of Australian wine. We may say that it was through no spirit of niggardliness that we refrained from sending her a bottle of Canadian wine for the purpose. In fact, we stand ready to provide Canadian wine for all such ceremonies in the future.

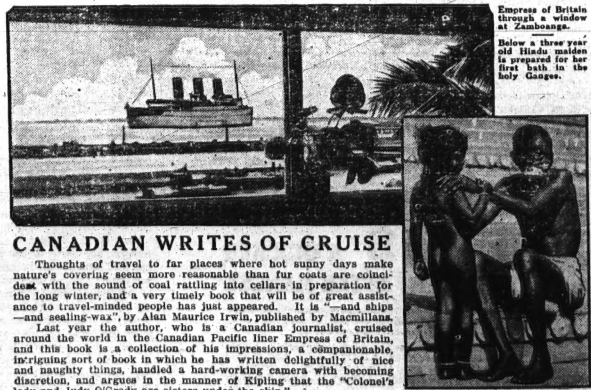

● The point worth noting is that, in this conspicuous way, royalty called attention to the fact that, in the British Commonwealth of Nations, there is produced wine fit for celebrating the launching of the greatest of ships, and wine fit for this is obviously far less scarce than it is. Thus not only the wines of Australia, and particularly the wines of South Australia which is the chief wine-producing state of the Antipodes, but the wines generally of the Empire were strikingly called to the attention of the world.

● The time has passed when only the wines of France and Portugal and Spain and Italy were meek for royal recognition. There are Empire wines from South Africa and Australia and Canada which are gradually finding markets in every part of the world. Those who know them at their best find that they fulfil all requirements of much more expensive wines. It is true the Australian wine differs from the French wine as much as the kangaroo differs from the Gallic cock. But who is to say it is inferior?

Gardens at Charlesbourg, near Quebec, N.R., were amazed to find that the "buck" was a doe with a good growth of antlers, these being still in the velvet stage. The proof was forwarded to Dr. Brassard by the hunters on their return from the chase. Antlered female deer have been found before, these antlers being always somewhat spiky and in their velvet covering while there have also been instances of male deer without antlers.

CANADIAN WRITES OF CRUISE

Thoughts of travel to far places where hot sunny days make nature's covering seem more reasonable than fur coats are coincided with the sound of coal rattling into cellars in preparation for the long winter, and a very timely book that will be of great assistance to travel-minded people has just appeared. It is "—and ships—and sailing-wax", by Alan Maurice Irwin, published by Macmillans.

Last year the author, who is a Canadian journalist, cruised around the world in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain, and this book is a collection of his impressions, a companionable, intriguing sort of book in which he has written delightfully of nice and naughty things, handled a hard-working camera with becoming discretion, and argues in the manner of Kipling that the "Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters under the skin."

The Mediterranean, Egypt, India—where the author lunched with Lord and Lady Willington, the Malay Peninsula, Italy—known Cambodia, China, Japan—even Hollywood, are amongst the places he writes about.

India, a country that has suffered much at the hands of those whose trade is writing, comes in for some rather rude debunking; tragic nights and tropical seas come in for some rather good descriptions. Simple, homely adventures amongst the simple, homely people of Bali develop an amusing knowledge that the women of this modern Eden are very interested in step-ins and other alien things.

S. Morgan-Powell, noted literary critic of the Montreal Star, writing of "—and ships—and sailing-wax", says: "Mr. Irwin has the light, whimsical touch invaluable for such a record as this, since it enabled him not only to remember what is vivid but to forget what is not worthy of remembrance—it also provides a most attractive medium by which to stimulate the interest of those who have hitherto been compelled for one reason or another, to enjoy their travels abroad vicariously."

On January 10 the Empress of Britain sets out again on her cruise around the world, visiting the ports that provided the copy for "—and ships—and sailing-wax". Her 400 passengers will see the scenes described in the book, experience encounters similar to those recorded by the author, and during the 120 days they are away, will sail at 22 ports in 24 different countries.

For those who do not make the cruise this reviewer recommends "—and ships—and sailing-wax", for those who do it is a practical text book.

SWEARS TO TRUTH BEFORE NOTARY

Suffering from severe abdominal pains and biliousness, Mrs. Elizabeth Dutton, 523 Simcoe St., London, Ont., at last got permanent relief. To help others she tells of her experience in a statement made under oath before a notary in order to convince you of its absolute truth. She states: "I had a bad case of biliousness and headaches and became so ill I had to go to a hospital. Nothing I tried would help until I started taking Fruit-a-tives. Now I have no more headaches and can do my household work without help from anyone. Fruit-a-tives did a new world of good."

Copy of Mrs. Dutton's sworn statement will be sent on request. Write: Fruit-a-tives, Ltd., 1000, 7th St., London, Ontario, Canada.

HE'S AT PEACE, DEAR MOTHER

There's no little a friend can do or say
When mother's son is called away.
When she remembers what her dear
boy said,
Or tells me about her boy—who's dead—
I strive to keep back my tears and know
She will weep by herself, after I go.
A mother's aching heart—in tears—
Remembers so clearly down the years;
I wish there was some way friends could bear
A part of each mother's lone despair.
Those mothers love, suffer and know
The heights of joy and the depths of woe.
Oh, when memory murmurs of lullaby days;
While she cradles her arms and softly
sings;
May God be near—and when memory
leaves—
To comfort the loving heart which grieves;
May the angels chant from their home above
He's at peace, dear mother, within God's love.

actions which might endanger the life but not sufficiently strong in the white public's estimation.

RETURNED MEN

A few mere words of thanks would seem so small,
I could not write them, speak them,
think them,
But tears will fall.
And a surging pride akin to pain
Fills my heart when

I see the valiant maimed, the medals won, the memory eyes
Of Returned Men.

While we honor the Dead today,
Honor the brave living—
The Returned Men.
All of them gave and thousands of them
Are still giving.

of Uruguay. The coffee port of Santos, Sao Paulo, and beautiful Rio de Janeiro will be the Brazilian place of interest visited, then the final ten days of the cruise will be spent in the Caribbean waters, calling at La Brea and Trinidad, Port of Spain, Kingston, Jamaica, and Havana, Cuba.

ACTION NEEDED TO AID SITUATION IN DROUTH AREAS

Winnipeg.—A plea directed to every corner of the Dominion for aid in rehabilitating the drouth areas in Western Canada has gone forth from Premier John Bracken of Manitoba.

Visualizing the rain-perched and dust-ridden waste was a spectacle replete with crop failure, food shortage and human suffering that should be eliminated from the agricultural panoramas of Canada, the Manitoba premier appealed to provincial premiers to institute a vigorous campaign to bring the problem Dominion-wide attention.

Speaking to the Canadian Club here, Mr. Bracken first told of the critical situation he found while investigating the drouth areas. Crop failures in large areas of Saskatchewan, in parts of southeastern Alberta and in southwestern Manitoba had played havoc with the agricultural and, consequently, the social fabrics of those areas.

Relief money from municipal, provincial and federal coffers had been expended. But relief money, he contended, did not remedy the situation. Drouths would recur in cycles and unless rehabilitation measures were taken their results would take on more aggravated forms.

Upon the whole Dominion lay the responsibility of attacking the question.

Mr. Bracken pleaded for reclamation of the drouth areas, rehabilitation of the farms, a conservation plan over the entire prairies and sound development of all resources.

"The problem has now assumed proportions of national scope," Mr. Bracken declared. What is needed is:

"The offer by provinces of services of such technical men and departments, without charge, as can be utilized in prosecution of such a major project;

"Appointment by the Dominion of a co-ordinating body to correlate efforts being made in a variety of directions by many individuals, both in and out of the public service, and by many departments both of governments and universities;

"Provision by the Dominion for the necessary additional finances to ensure successful carrying out of a sane, well-balanced program over the next 10 years;

"Active and sympathetic and generous co-operation of individuals, communities, railways and governments in a joint effort to solve a major problem."

Want Wage Rate Restored

Canadian Railway Running Trades Advance Arguments

Montreal.—A plea there was no reason for Canadian railways to follow the lead of United States lines and return to basic wage rates by April 1, 1935, was advanced here by Canadian railway running trades spokesmen at the continuation of their conference with Canadian Pacific and Canadian National officials, it was learned.

Heads of the Canadian railway running trades represent 35,000 men in their own unions and 65,000 in other sections of rail labor.

Increase of car loadings was understood to be another reason advanced by the men that the time had come for restoration of former wage schedules.

Debitors Start Tour

Halifax.—Opening a debating tour which will take them across Canada, two English undergraduates, Robertson Christon of Oxford and Leslie Jackson of Cambridge defeated Dalhousie University when they upheld the affirmative on the subject: "Resolved that this house deplores the rise of Fascism."

Would Build For Defence

Washington.—Japan is preparing to demand an agreement under which the three leading naval powers would build no more "offensive" vessels. This became known in authoritative source as details of the Japanese position at the naval conversations in London were disclosed.

Trial Starts In January

Flemington, N.J.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann entered a personal plea not guilty to a charge of murdering the kidnapped Lincoln baby, and Supreme Court Justice Thomas E. Trenchard fixed January 2, 1935, as the date for trial.

King George Sends Approval

Princes Work In Canada In Spreading Ideas Of League

Ottawa.—Warm approval by the King of the second national study project of the League of Nations Society in Canada was expressed in a cablegram received from His Majesty by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, president of the society.

"I have learned with pleasure and approval of the work of the League of Nations Society in Canada in spreading a knowledge of the ideas and work of the League of Nations," said His Majesty. "It is vitally necessary for the promotion of peace and co-operation between peoples that public opinion in all countries should thoroughly understand and appreciate the activities of the League in the task of maintaining, through collective international action, peace and good order in the world. The peoples of the British Empire have borne and will continue to bear a heavy share of this work and I wish every success to the League of Nations Society in Canada in the execution of their plans for the coming winter."

For Naval Equality

Japanese Present Their Claim To U.S. Representatives

London.—The Japanese presented their claim for naval equality to representatives of the United States, as they had done in meetings with the British. No action was taken and no official statements were issued, but it seemed obvious that a long and knotty discussion faced the representatives of the world's three leading naval powers.

British and Americans feel that the existing treaties already contain sufficient guarantees for equality in security. Japan would sweep away existing treaties and replace them with an entirely new structure.

In a nutshell, Japan is firm in its determination to remove the existing ratio basis, on which naval categories of Britain, the United States and Japan are fixed on a 5-5-3 ratio respectively. If the other powers will not join her in abrogating the Washington treaty, then she will abrogate it unilaterally—independently.

United Farm Women

Mrs. Goodale Heads Organization In Manitoba

Brandon, Man.—Mrs. M. J. Goodale Portage la Prairie, was re-elected president of the United Farm Women of Manitoba at its annual convention here. Mrs. E. L. Johnson, Arbor, was re-elected vice-president.

Discussions on naturalizations, sterilization of mentally defective persons and problems of the farm occupied the delegates. Resolutions of the organization will be submitted to the general session with the United Farmers of Manitoba for consideration.

Regulate Potato Marketing

Ottawa.—A decision to apply for the setting-up of a scheme under the Natural Products Marketing Act to regulate the marketing of potatoes in eastern Canada was practically reached at a session of the potato conference, representing growers, dealers and governments in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. The conference is planning to work out plans of orderly marketing for the present bumper potato crop in order to ensure the farmers as good as possible a return.

Remembrance Day

Ottawa.—The "great silence" between 11 a.m. and 11:02 a.m. on November 11 will be observed in Canada, and the government has issued instructions to provincial and municipal authorities to arrange for suspension of all vehicular traffic during these two minutes. Railway and water transport will not be suspended.

Defends Beauty Operations

Chicago.—A defence of the use of the surgeon's knife for the sake of beauty alone when the psychological benefit to be derived by the patient is great, was voiced by Sir Harold Gillis, noted London surgeon. He pleaded for recognition of "esthetic surgery" and referred to plastic surgery as "the Cinderella of surgery."

Plan To Tattoo Soldiers

Washington.—Every United States soldier would be tattooed, under a plan now before the war department. As a means of identifying dead and wounded, tattooing is advocated by Lieutenant C. L. Whittle of Fort Ontario, N.Y. In the Infantry Journal, official publication of the Infantry Association.

Drouth In China

Damage Is Expected To Reach Amount Exceeding $1,200,000,000

Shanghai, China.—The losses to the Chinese farmers and peasants occasioned by the prolonged drouth and record heat wave of the past spring and summer are expected to exceed $1,200,000,000, according to a report issued by the national famine relief commission, which is based on reports received from the stricken districts.

In the 10 provinces, 263 districts have sent in reports declaring a total of approximately 29,750,000 acres of cultivated lands have been affected by the drouth.

When all surveys are completed it is expected the drouth losses will reach a more appalling total than even the very pessimistic estimate of the national famine relief commission.

A survey conducted by the department of agricultural economics of the national agricultural research bureau of the ministry of industries revealed the damage caused by the drouth in the two provinces of Kiangsu and Chekiang alone is in excess of $528,800,000. The area affected in these two provinces is only about one-third of the total area of the 10 provinces hit by the drouth.

Reduce Liquor Prices

Manitoba Commission Faced With Competition From Bootleggers

Winnipeg.—An intensive police drive on bootleggers is under way as the Manitoba government liquor control commission, faced with fierce competition from this source, announced reduced prices on Canadian gold in liquor stores.

The commission announced Canadian-made gin would be reduced 35 cents per 26-ounce bottle to $2.50, and 40-ounce size to $3.80, a cut of 50 cents. Small variations in prices according to quality will be set.

CODES FOR LABOR TO BE DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

Montreal.—Governmental codes for industry in Canada patterned after the N.R.A. codes of the United States insofar as minimum wages and hours of labor are concerned will be discussed at the forthcoming conference of representatives of all the provincial governments at Toronto, the Gazette says.

"Hon. C. J. Arcand, Quebec minister of labor, will attend," the Gazette says. "He will challenge the worth of governmental codes fixing minimum wages and hours of labor for male workers as against that of juridical extension of collective labor agreements, as existing at present in this province."

"In other words, it may be held that so far as the fixing of labor conditions for men, it is better that employers and employees be permitted to come to an agreement among themselves, and juridically extend such agreements, than have governmental interference."

This procedure, the Gazette states, was held by Quebec authorities to be a better solution of present-day labor problems than that of governmental interference.

NEW ZEALAND'S GOVERNOR-GENERAL AT HOME

Here is a picture of Viscount and Viscountess Galtway with their children in the grounds of their home, Serby Hall, Bawtry, Yorkshire. The King has approved the appointment of Viscount Galtway to be Governor-General of New Zealand in succession to Lord Bledisloe, whose term of office expires shortly.

BRITAIN'S ENVOY

Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Chief Economic Adviser to the British Government, who heads the delegation which is in Britain initiating discussions on the commercial and financial relations of the two countries, as affected by the new German machinery for the control of imports and the allocation of foreign exchange.

Win Air Derby

England's Brilliant Airmen Finished First In Handicap As Well As Speed Race

Melbourne, Australia.—An unofficial check indicated England's brilliant airmen, C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black, finished first in the handicap as well as the speed race in the Engad-Melbourne derby. Their official time was 70 hours, 59 minutes, 50 seconds.

But the Dutch entry, which came in 19 hours and 18 minutes behind Scott and Black, and two hours and 42 minutes ahead of the American team of Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, stands an excellent chance of getting the handicap first prize of $10,000.

Under the rules for the derby a pilot cannot win prizes in both races, but must choose between them.

Should Panamer and Moll get the $10,000 handicap prize, the second prize of $7,500 in the speed race would go to Turner and Pangborn. At any rate the Americans are assured of the $2,500 third prize in the speed race.

Purchase Land In Alberta

Two Colonies Of Hutterites Have Settled Near Lethbridge

Lethbridge, Alta.—Purchase of 11,000 acres of farm lands in the Chip district, near Lethbridge, at a cost of $110,000 by the Hutterite brethren was confirmed. Two colonies of Hutterites will occupy the land of which 5,500 acres are ready for crop next spring. One block was formerly owned by R. C. Harvey, Lethbridge sheep rancher. The other was sold by the Canadian Pacific Railway lands department.

Wins Provincial Honors

Edmonton.—Junior club teams from Lacombe and Olds won provincial honors in stock judging competitions here and will get free trips to the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, where they will represent Alberta in the Dominion finals. Wylie Thomson and Walter Dunkley of Olds won the Junior Dairy Club stock section. Henry Magilton and Edward Chessor of Lacombe were victors in the Beef Club Club finals.

Flight Was A Success

Trip Into Stratosphere Quite Satisfactory Strapped Mrs. Piccard

Cadiz, Ohio.—The stratosphere flight of the Jean Piccards came to an end in a tree-top. The bag of their balloon was badly torn, but the gondola and valuable instruments were undamaged and the Piccards themselves were unhurt.

The Piccards, saying they believed the purpose of their flight had been accomplished, brought the huge bag down after a flight that started from Detroit and carried them an estimated 10 miles into the air.

"The flight was a success," said Mrs. Piccard soon after she climbed from the gondola which settled amid trees near an old logging road on the John Fulton farm, four and one-half miles southwest of here.

Glen Cope, a farmer, made a valiant attempt to halt the balloon as it drifted slowly a short distance above the ground, its ropes dragging.

He grabbed a rope and attempted to tie it to a tractor. The floating balloon pulled the rope from his hands and the balloon then scraped as top of a tree trunk, the branches tearing the bag badly but not damaging the gondola. The landing, while rough, merely shook up the Swiss scientist and his wife.

Community Chest Campaign

Relief For Families That Might Otherwise Be Destroyed

Vancouver.—There are families today who are in danger of complete disruption," G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.L.A., declared in a public address in behalf of Community Chest campaigns now in progress in various cities of Canada. In their homes the health of children is being imperilled. "Now," Mr. McGeer continued, "whether this condition arises from lack of income or from other cause, wise private social service not forced upon the community by the government, can often bring relief that means the rehabilitation of a family that might otherwise be destroyed."

Taxes On Range Lands

New Base For Levy Urged Before Alberta Board

Calgary.—A plea that taxes on range lands be levied according to productive, rather than fictitious value of land was made by Jack Byers, of the Western Stockgrowers' Association, when he appeared before the Alberta tax inquiry board, which was holding sessions in Calgary.

Mr. Byers also urged that arrears of taxes be worked out in forms of range improvements which would promote more efficient land utilization, and that the rate of taxation that stockmen can afford to pay, with proper provision for collection.

TO ESTABLISH AN OPEN LONDON GRAIN AGENCY

Winnipeg.—Establishment of a grain agency at London will be entirely independent of Canadian wheat pools and other export agencies, David L. Smith, former foreign representative of the pools' central selling agency, said here. He will sail for England early in November.

Mr. Smith will operate as an independent private trader. At London he will establish a sample market where Canadian grains can be inspected and their qualities discussed with European buyers. Through this medium he is hopeful of establishing a contact that will assist materially in the sale of Canadian wheat and other grains abroad.

In England Mr. Smith acts as the accredited representative of a number of Canadian export houses, including the Alberta and Saskatchewan wheat pools. He believed earlier report which said the agency had been decided upon as a joint effort of several Canadian export houses and the two pools, carried a wrong impression. He will act as salesman on his own account.

Calgary.—Establishment of David L. Smith, of Winnipeg, as a grain agent in London to increase sales of Canadian grains will be entirely independent of the Alberta wheat pool, R. D. Purdy, manager of the pool, said. Anything Mr. Smith may accomplish will be separate from the pool's efforts in the export field.

"Mr. Smith is going to London as a salesman on his own account, I understand," Mr. Purdy said. "If he succeeds he may be able to do some business with us. But I would like to make it clear that he is entirely independent of the Alberta wheat pool."

PRICE SPREADS COMMISSION TO RESUME WORK

Ottawa.—Fish, livestock marketing and packing, canning, milling and baking, textile and agriculture implement industries also will be investigated by the price spreads and mass buying, Commission Minister of announced.

Trade and Commerce H. H. Stevens. Further evidence, in addition, will be submitted on the effect of mass buying by large-scale merchandising establishments. Government auditors will submit their report relative to chain store merchandising in Canada, and evidence will be submitted as to the position of the consumer in relation to various questions that have arisen.

The first subject to be considered by the commission will be the marketing of fish. A brief report on this subject was presented to the parliamentary committee last June by L. W. Fraser, of Halifax, as a result of a survey made by him. Arrangements have now been made to secure further evidence on this subject from witnesses representing various phases of the fishing industry.

It is expected that evidence on the following questions also will be submitted to the commission:

1. Livestock marketing and the packing industry. This was dealt with by the parliamentary committee but additional information has been secured and will be presented.

2. Canning industry. A report will be submitted by the auditors which will, it is hoped, throw light on the economic and financial structure of the industry and its relation to both consumers and producers.

3. Milling and baking industries. A complete study of these industries has been made and will be presented, special attention having been given to the development of the mill-controlled bakeries.

4. Textile and agricultural implement industries. The auditors will submit reports on these industries; which will present a picture of their financial structure and labor and wage conditions.

5. Further evidence will be submitted as to the effect of mass buying on the part of large-scale merchandising establishments.

6. A complete report has been made by the auditors in connection with chain store merchandising in Canada, and will be presented to the commission.

7. Finally, it is anticipated that evidence will be submitted as to the position of the consumer in relation to the various questions that have arisen, with special reference to the desirability of consumers' standards and consumer protection against fraudulent and unethical merchandising.

Trail Of Death

Maniac In Quebec Runs Amuck And Kills Six People

Quebec.—Bodies of four persons, a man and three women, were at a morgue here, victims of a maniac, while police were searching woods near Ste. Therese, Que., for the bodies of two men whom J. Rosaire Blodreau, 45, admitted having killed. The trail of death, Blodreau stated, began when he drove two of his cousins, Gaston Guavin, 20, and Fernand Guavin, 18, into the woods. Leaving his car he led them into the woods, killing them.

Then he returned to Quebec and took his two sisters, Marie Blodreau, 63, and Rosalie Blodreau, 62, and Yvette Guavin, 21, his niece, to another spot in the woods. They also were shot.

Blodreau, a former postal employee, then burst in to the Quebec post office, slaying Octave Fiset, division superintendent of the Quebec postal service, and injuring Postmaster J. G. L. Morin critically and Moise Jolicoeur seriously. He then, supernaturally, Blodreau, after being overpowered in the post office, was taken to police headquarters, where under questioning he told police of five additional slayings. Police immediately took him to a sequestered La Beupre, where he led them to the bodies of the three women, his two sisters and Yvette Guavin.
